Love Quiet is the mesmerising new album from singer-songwriter Joanna Eden.

In her 8 original & 2 unique covers, Eden reflects upon a time of peace and seclusion in the strange world of 2020.

Ironically, although this peace was caused by a global crisis, it was almost heaven-sent for Joanna as she recovered from a damaging relationship. In the quiet, a new love and musical partnership emerged bringing about an intensely creative period and some intoxicating music.

A writing and recording trip to South America with her Uruguyan bass playing partner Andrés Lafone, has drawn Joanna's music into a vibrant new sound on this, her 6th solo album. Listeners can expect the combination of singer/songwriter storytelling with joyous syncopation and rhythmic interplay!

Opening track Firefly has a distinctly 'world-music' feel produced by hand-claps, percussion and virtuosic bass arpeggios from Andrés Lafone; creating a fresh and exotic backdrop for Eden's honeyed vocals.

Joanna wrote Love's Children on a 50th Wedding Anniversary to celebrate the real-life story of 'original hipsters' Derek & Carole. Says Joanna of her favourite Devonians "I aspire to be them! They play at life; every day is an opportunity to create and celebrate!"

Bonnie Raitt's Nick of Time is the obvious cover for an album about finding 'the one' after a long search and Eden's groove-filled arrangement is lifted by her choice of Wurlitzer keyboard which blends so well with the warmth of her voice.

Another highlight has to be the ethereal blend of mellotron and slide guitar on Eden's beautiful ballad Falling.
